Evidence over politics

What we stand for

The Beyond Party believes in moving beyond left and right arguments towards the centre of politics.

Solutions should be evidence based – we can have a strong economy AND real climate action; a strong and honest government AND less waste; personal freedom AND care for others.

We find real solutions to real problems, based on evidence and integrity first.

Evidence over politics

Our policies

- Real and independent government oversight through a powerful anti-corruption commission.
- Truth-in-advertising rules to restrict the use of AI and disinformation in political campaigns.
- Cut government waste to enable increased funding to people struggling with cost-of-living expenses.
- Make mental health support real and reachable – free counsellors in schools and community centres – not a waitlist or a hotline.
- Use evidence-based decisions to make sure money is spent sensibly and honestly.
- Support equality and make sure everyone gets the help they need and deserve.

What we stand for

The Region and Country Party stands up for the regions. We are the voice of country towns, farms and all communities outside of Adelaide.

We are the people who grow the food, dig the minerals and make sure your lights stay on.

We fight for fair funding for roads, hospitals and schools in regional areas, water security for farmers, and respect the values of resilience and hard work that have built South Australia.

A fair go for working people

What we stand for

The Working Families Party represents those who keep our country going – tradies, nurses, teachers, farmers, shop and factory workers, and families – who are working hard, yet still struggling.

We believe in a real fair go, where everyone has what they need to thrive – a strong economy that shares wealth; good public hospitals and schools that have enough professional staff; secure jobs with decent pay and actual help with the cost of living.

VOTE 1

What we stand for

The Local First Party believes South Australians are smart enough to exercise their own freedoms.

This means keeping taxes low and cutting rules that get in the way of everyday life. In a world filled with misinformation, political spin, algorithms and people trying to influence your view, we believe the most powerful thing a person can do is think critically and make their own decisions.

We believe in strong local industries, safe neighbourhoods and the freedom to live your life as you want. Real freedom starts with you.

Your life. Your choices.

Our policies

- Keep income tax low for individuals and families, so you keep more of what you earn, allowing you to make your own decisions.
- Teach media literacy in schools so young people can tell the difference between facts, opinion and deliberate misinformation.
- Protect free speech and the right to privacy – online and off – so people can think, question and disagree respectfully.
- Give families genuine choice in education and healthcare, making sure this suits people from all backgrounds.
- Fund police properly and enforce the law fairly, because freedom only works when people feel safe.
- Back local industries like farming, fishing, small business and trades, with practical support so that communities can build their own futures.
- Strike a balance between restricting the power of tech companies and allowing free speech online.

Your life. Your choices.

What we stand for

The Enterprise Party believes that South Australia thrives when our people and businesses are free to have a go.

Government works best when it supports this, rather than getting in the way.

We will implement policies that we know allow South Australians to live their best life – lower taxes, less red tape and a responsible budget that creates jobs and lets families keep what they earn.

We have the back of small business by rewarding hard work, keeping communities safe and trusting people to make the best choices for their own lives.
