

Early career teacher training checklist: student behaviour including bullying and violence

The following training checklist provides early career teachers with practical strategies for creating an inclusive learning environment. Most modules take less than one hour to complete. You can follow the recommended order in the checklist or choose those most relevant to your role. Tick them off as you go.

Start here

Talk to your line manager about your school's approach and where to find your Behaviour Support Policy and Bullying Prevention Policy on your school's website.

Courses to help you understand student behaviour including bullying and violence

An introduction to trauma-informed practice in education

Recognise the neurobiological impacts of trauma on students, and develop effective strategies to support their development, wellbeing, behaviour and learning.

☐

An introduction to restorative practices

Practical techniques and approaches to build positive relationships, foster a restorative classroom or school environment, and effectively repair and restore relationships.

☐

Bullying prevention module 1 – Understanding bullying

Explore key definitions, the different types of bullying and the impact it has and use effective practices to address behaviour concerns when they occur.

☐

Courses to help you recognise and prevent student behaviour including bullying and violence

Bullying prevention module 4 - Cyberbullying

Learn about cyberbullying and how to implement effective interventions to support respectful and safe online behaviours in your school.

☐

Bullying prevention module 5 – Preventing and reducing bullying

Prevent and reduce bullying for children with disabilities, children in care, Aboriginal children, children from diverse backgrounds and gender and sexually diverse children.

☐

Gender diverse, intersex and sexually diverse children and young people

Gain knowledge of legislation, policies and inclusive practices to support and affirm gender diverse, intersex and sexually diverse children and young people in educational settings.

☐

Understanding and preventing children and young people's violent behaviour

Understand violent behaviour in childhood and adolescence, what causes it and identify things you can do to minimise the risk of violence and support children to be safe from harm.

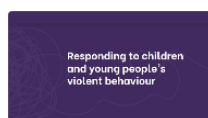

☐

Sexual behaviour in children and young people

Learn how to identify, assess, respond to, record, and report sexual behaviours in children and young people by applying the relevant procedure and guideline.

☐

Course to help you respond to student behaviour including bullying and violence

Responding to children and young people's violent behaviour

Learn to identify, respond to, and manage behaviours of concern by applying effective strategies to keep students safe and minimise future risks.

☐

Continue learning

Violence prevention dashboard

Don't stop here! find more training and resources on the dashboard.