2. Funding

Overview of Funding Process

Commonwealth/State Government Grants

The Minister for Education and Child Development is responsible for the allocation of Commonwealth/State Government Special Education grants to eligible organisations providing education and therapy related services for children and students with a disability in South Australia. Eligible non-government organisations have in the past been able to apply for support grants under the Non-Government Centres Support element of the Commonwealth Government Literacy, Numeracy and Special Learning Needs Programme (Schools Assistance (Learning Together – Achievement Through Choice and Opportunity) Act 2004). Funding for this element is now part of Special Purpose Payments to South Australia under the National Education Agreement between the states and territories and the Commonwealth Government.

The Committee administers the allocation of Commonwealth Government support grants to non-government organisations on behalf of the agent for the Commonwealth Government; in South Australia this is the Minister for Education and Child Development. In addition to administering Commonwealth Government funds, the Committee administers State Recurrent Grants on behalf of the Minister, which are available to support children and students with a disability.

Allocative Mechanism

Commonwealth Government Recurrent Grants

Each year, organisations applying for Commonwealth Government Non-Government Centres Support Recurrent Grants submit a written application to MAC: SWD, outlining child/student numbers and the levels of need and types of service provided to the relevant education sectors. The data submitted represent services provided in the preceding year, and are verified by education sector representatives who are members of the committee, before being applied to the committee’s funding formula. Data for early intervention services are verified by officers of the MAC: SWD secretariat.

In 2009 MAC: SWD reviewed its funding model in response to a request from the three education sectors which sought more intense direct service for children and students with high needs at their preschools and schools. This review was conducted over a period of eighteen months in consultation with education sector representatives and non-government organisations providing services. The new funding model came into effect from 2011. Grants are still allocated retrospectively and depend on level and type of service provided by the organisations. Exceptions are made in three cases; base grants are allocated to three small early intervention programs.

The new funding model consists of three elements:

- General Support: measuring the number of children and students who have received any type of service. Thirty per cent of the total available funding is allocated to this component.
- Specific Service: measuring the amount of time a direct service has been provided to a child or student in minutes. Organisations must achieve a minimum of 120 minutes of Early Childhood Intervention service per child per semester, or 360 minutes of school support per student per semester, for their service minutes to be counted. This structure is designed to encourage a high level of intensive, direct support. Sixty per cent of the total available funding is allocated to this component.
- Outreach Service: measuring the number of children and students who live in rural and regional areas who have received direct service of any duration. Ten per cent of the total available funding is allocated to this component.
Grant allocations to non-government organisations fluctuate on an annual basis, as they depend on the finite total budget allocation to this program and the level of service provided to individual children and students in each of the organisations funded.

The funding provided to organisations has been and will continue to be targeted to provide learning and development opportunities for children with a disability who are below school age to prepare them for entry into preschools or schools, to assist school-aged children with a disability by improving their access to educational programs and to support children with a disability in residential care.

The allocation of funds for the Non-Government Centres Support Program for the 2011 calendar year was $3,870,342.

State Recurrent Grants

Two programs were eligible for State Government Special Education funding in 2011, namely the Women’s and Children’s Health Network’s (formerly Children, Youth and Women’s Health Services) Access Assistant Program and the Joint Sector Intensive and Crisis Support Program.

The Access Assistant Program supports children with severe physical disability and/or complex health care needs in preschools and schools across the three education sectors in South Australia. Without this program many children would not be able to attend their school, but would need to stay in hospital. The South Australian Government wholly funds the program; in 2011 the program received $2,577,000 of funding.

MAC: SWD administers the Joint Sector Intensive and Crisis Support funding, which is accessible to the three education sectors in South Australia. This funding provides school based support for children and students during a period of unexpected need, often due to complex health support requirements on return to school after hospitalisation. An amount of $45,000 was allocated to support this program in 2011.

Commonwealth/State Government Recurrent Grant Allocations

The Commonwealth/State Government total amount allocated in 2011 was $6,492,342.

The following table lists those organisations/programs that received recurrent grants in 2011:

- 10 non-government organisations offering early intervention and/or school support programs
- the Women’s and Children’s Health Network’s (formerly Children, Youth and Women’s Health Services) Access Assistant Program
- Department for Families and Communities’ Families SA Tutoring Program for Children in Residential Care (CIRC)
- the Joint Sector Intensive and Crisis Support program.

Number of children and students supported during the 2010/2011 financial year

Funding to non-government organisations is allocated retrospectively, based on service provision to children and students in the preceding year. Data recording service provision were collected over four terms, i.e. Terms 3 and 4 2010 and Terms 1 and 2 2011. This has been the basis of funding for calendar year 2012. Averaged over the four terms and for all funded organisations, 1180 children were registered for early childhood intervention services and 5639 students for school support services. Of these, averaged over the four terms, 3619 children and students received a service, of which 1539 (82%) children received an early childhood intervention service, and 2033 (36%) students received a school support service.

The Women’s and Children’s Health Network’s (formerly Children, Youth and Women’s Health Service’s) Access Assistant Program provided support to 244 children and students with complex health needs. Additionally between July 2010 and June 2011, 35 children and students were supported (for 1079 hours in total) through the crisis care program.

Administrators for the Children in Residential Care program reported that during 2010 a total of 47 students with a disability received services. This was an increase from the previous year, when 37 students were supported through this program.

3. Projects

Each year, the Committee undertakes a number of statewide projects that have been approved by the Minister for Education and Child Development. The projects may be initiated by the Minister or suggested by the Committee.

All projects focus on children and students with a disability and are relevant to the three education sectors, i.e. State, Catholic and Independent preschools and schools. Project groups are convened for most projects and members are chosen for their experience and expertise in the particular topic. Five new projects were undertaken in 2011 and these will carry over to 2012. Summaries of the projects are provided below. Once approved by the Minister relevant reports will be available on the Committee’s website.

Further to these, a review of services provided by non-government organisations based on data previously provided to MAC: SWD by the organisations began in 2010. The report of this project was submitted to the Minister in July 2011. The findings provide base-line information upon which to evaluate the effect of the new MAC: SWD Funding Model, which was implemented during 2011. The new funding model has been designed to encourage more direct service to children and students with high support needs in early years programs, preschools and schools and, in particular, to encourage outreach services to children and students in remote and rural communities. In addition, a data reporting template was developed during 2011 to improve consistency in service reporting by the non-government organisations. This template will be trialled on a voluntary basis by two non-government organisations in 2012 to evaluate its usefulness.

Support for Children and Students with a Disability Information Resource

In 2006, the Committee published a resource for families, educators and care providers which gave an overview of support services for children and students with disabilities across the education, health and disability sectors. This resource was distributed to all care services, preschools and schools in South Australia. The Committee had received feedback that this resource was very helpful and widely used in the care and education communities and it was requested that the resource be updated with current information. This project is currently waiting on up-to-date information on a number of new developments in the field of education and children’s services before it is completed in 2012. These include the Education and Early Childhood Services (Registration and Standards) Act 2011; the review of the Disability Standards for Education; Universal Access in preschools and changes to school intake in government schools.

Disability Services and Children’s Centres for Early Childhood and Parenting

The Committee undertook a project in 2011 to investigate how families of children with a disability and additional needs utilise Children’s Centres for Early Childhood Development and Parenting, and the level of services provided by Government agencies and non-government organisations in assisting these children and their families to participate at the centres.

The project group collected information on the 21 Children’s Centres for Early Childhood Development and Parenting that were operational when the project group first convened in April 2011. Information was collected through a checkbox survey of Directors, Heads of School: Early Years or Managers of all centres, focus group interviews with parents using the centres, focus group interviews with service providers from non-government organisations and Government agencies working in the centres and individual interviews with DECD Disability Coordinators working in the centres.

Data collection for the project is now complete. The quantitative analysis of the survey responses is nearly completed. The qualitative analysis of the checkbox responses has not yet been started.

A written report will be provided to the Minister in the first half of 2012.

Equipment for Children and Students with a Disability

The Committee undertook a project in 2011 to investigate equipment provisions for children and students with a disability in South Australia. The Committee was aware that several agencies could and do provide equipment, but that the processes for acquiring equipment to support children’s access to and participation in care and education services were not always clear for families. Access and waiting times for equipment to support children and students seemed to have improved since the Government allocated additional funding to clear waiting lists, but service difficulties remained. The aim of this project was to identify areas of improvement in processes.

The project group collected information through face to face interviews with personnel responsible for managing equipment schemes. They found a complex system existed, but efficiencies and collaboration between services had developed in recent years particularly in the areas of communication, mobility and personal care equipment provision for children with physical disability. The area most requiring development appeared to be equipment for children and students who are blind or visually impaired. The project also found that new technologies such as ipods and ipads were changing the equipment provision landscape rapidly and research activities to demonstrate the usefulness of these items in the education context was needed.

The project group planned to reconvene in 2012 to review the pool of data and complete the report for the Minister. If approved, the report will be published on the MAC: SWD website.

Child Protection Resource for Parents and Carers of Children with a Disability

In October 2011, the Minister for Education and Childhood Development requested MAC: SWD work in consultation with parents and carers of children with a disability to develop a resource to assist in preventing and protecting children with a disability from abuse.

The project group drafted a detailed resource that will be developed as a companion document to the Families SA Protecting children and young people with disabilities booklet. The project group sought final consultation and received comment from a myriad of professionals who work in the area of child protection or related areas. Final consultation is complete and the resource is soon to be sent to the designer. The project group had received feedback that this resource was helpful and could be widely used in the community.

Further discussions are planned to develop a proposed budget, approach to marketing and methods for distribution. These final arrangements for publication with then be discussed with the Minister’s office.

This project is currently waiting on these discussions to take place and will be completed in the first quarter of 2012.

KidsMatter Early Childhood for Children with a Disability

MAC: SWD has been keeping a watching brief on the topic of mental health of children and students with a disability since 2006. Two reports have been published since then; Mental Health and Children and Students with a Disability in 2007 and KidsMatter for Students with a Disability: Evaluation Report in 2010. The latter project was undertaken in partnership with the KidsMatter Primary Evaluation team, chaired by Prof Phillip Slee at Flinders University. The KidsMatter initiative received ongoing Australian Government funding to support the implementation of KidsMatter Primary in more schools across Australia and to develop KidsMatter Early Childhood. KidsMatter Early Childhood was piloted in childcare settings and preschools across Australia during 2011, and, like KidsMatter Primary, is also subject to evaluation by the Flinders University based team. The KidsMatter Early Childhood evaluation data has been collected at four intervals, the last of which was due at the end of December 2011. MAC: SWD will again work in partnership with Flinders University to evaluate the effectiveness of this initiative for South Australian children with a disability and their families. Analysis and report writing will begin in February 2012.

In August 2011 the Executive Officer, Christel Butcher, gave a presentation at the statewide Professional Learning Day for Department of Education and Children’s Services’ Disability Coordinators about the Ministerial Advisory Committee: Students with Disabilities’ funding processes and recent research.
5. Future

Projects for 2012

The committee decided not to start any new projects in 2012, but to complete the projects that were commenced in 2011.
